

Voice of the Rocky Mountain Empire

THE DENVER POST

December 21, 2009

Denver Nuggets coach George Karl with St. Jude patients Thomas and Diandre.

Kind gesture

While in Memphis, Karl visited St. Jude Children's Research Hospital where he toured the facility, met with children and donated $20,000 to the hospital. "St. Jude is one of the more incredible hospitals basically bringing in cancer patients from around the world and kids from around the world treating them and they do incredible miracles in a lot of fields," said Karl, himself a cancer survivor. Numerous NBA stars are donating money this season through the Hoops for St. Jude fundraiser and items are currently on auction at www.hoopsforstjude.org.

--- Benjamin Hochman
The Denver Post